

Driscoll Acupuncture

Ann Driscoll, L.Ac.

(216) 221-2632

aedriscoll@juno.com

Cleveland, Ohio

Are you a curious person, an acupuncturist who is dedicated to keep learning more in the field of acupuncture? Would the opportunity to have your own practice and style while still working along with an experienced acupuncturist interest you? This would be an opportunity to establish your own practice within a beautiful office, that has not only a great location, but is set in a very quiet tree ringed office park.

I am a graduate of The New England School of Acupuncture with NCCAOM certification in Oriental Medicine who has been in practice in the greater Cleveland area for 21 years. I very much enjoy my specialty of working with fertility issues and women's health, but do not limit my practice to these. For the next two years I will be working full time, and then gradually reducing my work days and sending more patients to the acupuncturist joining me. An acupuncturist who has studied with Jeffrey Yuen, is somewhat knowledgeable in Classical Chinese Medicine, and employs the five channel systems in their treatment would potentially be an excellent match.

A like-minded practitioner who is dedicated to giving patients the attention and caring that is becoming rarer in healthcare is essential is who I am looking for. This acupuncturist should be willing to work a few evenings per week and some Saturdays. Either an acupuncturist with NCCAOM certification in Oriental Medicine, or Acupuncture only would be considered.

The financial investment would require only paying half the rent, supplies, and utilities, as well as maintaining a 1 million/3-million-dollar liability insurance policy. This person could start as early as February 2024, but I would like someone by July 2024 at the latest.

The Cleveland area offers many quality-of-life advantages. The cost of living is relatively low and demand for acupuncture is ever increasing. Culturally it has much more to offer than many might think. The Cleveland Orchestra, The Cleveland Museum of Art, and a vibrant theater district are all wonderful gifts. Open space opportunities to be in nature are plentiful, including direct access to Lake Erie along with hiking and biking in the Cleveland Metroparks that stretch in a 100-mile crescent around Cleveland, not to mention the Cuyahoga National Forest just south of Cleveland.

Please contact me if you are seriously interested in considering this. I look forward to a conversation about how this opportunity might work for both of us.

